QUALITY AND AUSTRALIAN REGULATIONS

Before accepting an offer to study with William Blue, international students should be familiar with the Education Services for Overseas Students (ESOS) framework. A simple explanation of the framework is the ESOS Framework Student Fact Sheet available online at www.aei.gov.au/regulatory-information/

The Department of Education is responsible for the Commonwealth Register of Institutions and Courses for Overseas Students (CRICOS). Only education institutions registered under the ESOS Act and listed on CRICOS can enrol overseas students to study in Australia on a student visa. The Australian Skills Quality Authority and the Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency regulate the education and training sector's involvement with overseas students studying in Australia on student visas in the Vocational Education and Training sector and the higher education sector respectively.

It does this through the Education Services for Overseas Students legislative framework (ESOS). This protects Australia's reputation for delivering quality education services and the interests of overseas students, by setting minimum standards and providing tuition and financial assurance.

The legislation mandates a nationally consistent approach to registering education providers so that the quality of the tuition, and care of students, remains high. The professionalism and integrity of the industry is further strengthened by the ESOS legislation's interface with immigration law. This imposes visa related reporting requirements on both students and providers.

Students can seek other external reviews or appeals by seeking assistance from agencies such as the Ombudsman, relevant Commission or the Office of Fair Trading. For further details, refer to the Students Complaints Policy www.williamblue.edu.au/about-william-blue/policies-procedures-and-forms

When the time came to return home, Kassandra was able to transfer back to Sydney into her current role today, as Regional Human Resources Assistant for Australasia.

“My role involves assisting the Regional HR Director with the Strategic HR Management of the region. This means a lot of project work and planning! From coordinating training programs, consolidating reports or developing new recruitment collateral, I’m always learning and working on something new.

When I started looking into Hospitality as a career I wasn’t sure which area of the industry I wanted to work in. I chose William Blue because I liked the variety that the college offered. The course covered so many different areas, and offered practical on-the-job training as well, so it was the best option for me.

I also liked the independence of living off- campus, and having the flexibility to work while I studied. The college encourages you to gain industry experience, and the Industry Advisor team helped me to get my first job in hotels as a Banquets waiter.

In 5-10 years I see myself working as a HR Director, hopefully with Hilton Worldwide. Ideally I’d like to stay in Sydney but who knows where I could end up!

My advice would be to work while you study. Experience is crucial for developing your career in Hospitality. Everyone has to start at the bottom but it doesn’t take long to move up if you put in the hard work.”
